The ensuing session will open on the 2sth of the present month. The charges are:

an admission fee of $10, and a small charge each session for contingencies. Fuel and lights are furnished at cost, and washing at 374 cents per dozen. The necessary college expenses of a boarding student will not exceed $180 or $190 per annum. All the bills are payable one half at the beginning, and the balance at the middle of the session.

With a view of giving to the different departments of instruction a wider extension, and at the ments of instruction a wider extension, and at the tame time of meeting a public want by rendering the advantage of the college available to a larger the advantage of the college available to a larger number and a more varied class of students, some important changes have been made in the order and arrangement of the students. A new course has been adopted, styled the Scientific Course, and the degree of Batchelor of Philosophy (B. P.) attached to it. It will occupy about three years, and will embrace all the studies of the regular course for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, with the exception of the ancient languages. This course will be specially adapted to those who wish to obtain what is called a practical education, as the mathematical and scientific studies will have greater prominence than usual, particularly in their application to the arts and business of life. Those who may wish to become practical surveyors, engineers, or agriculturists, will be enabled, with the gineers, or agriculturists, will be enabled, with the advice of the faculty, to select their studies with special reference to those objects, and will receive the aid of lectures and illustrations. The doors of the College will also be opened to those who may wish, under its general regulations, to pursue any branch of study for any length of time. They may, under the direction of the faculty, select such subjects as are suited to their views and objects in life, and, on examination, may receive a regular certificate of their standing and proficiency in the same. gineers, or agriculturists, will be enabled, with the Measures are in progress for filling immediately the chair of chemistry, geology, mineralogy, and botany in a manner that will add greatly to the interest and profit of those studies.

terest and profit of those studies.

The preparatory department has been placed under careful and efficient management, in a building which has been handsomely fitted up for its reception. It has an able and experienced teacher, and is under the general supervision of the faculty. It will thus afford the best advantages for laying the foundation of a thorough classical and mathematical education.

Boarding pupils will be received under the immediate care and direction of the principal, and at about the same expense as regular college stulents.

The buildings have recently undergone thorough

THE ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE OF Art.—The number published on the 1st of July, being the commencement of a new volume, affords an excellent opportunity for new subscribers to commence the work.

The numbers already published of the Illustrated

The numbers already published of the Illustrated Magazine of Art have at once placed it at the head of the magazines or any publication of the day, and no expense will be spared to render it, in every respect, worthy of its name: a Magazine of Art. To render this mere strikingly apparent, the proprietor has determined to incorporate with "The Magazine of Art," the "History and Works of the Painters of all Nations." This splendid series includes biographical notices of various painters of celebrity, descriptive catalogues of their performances, and beautifully engraved copies of performances, and beautifully engraved copies of their chief works. The works of one painter will appear in each monthly part.

The engravings preparing for future numbers are in the hands of the first artists of America, England, France, and Germany. A series of tale of the most interesting description are in the course of publication, including "The School of Life," written and illustrated by Anna Mary, daughter of William and Mary Howitt, with engravings, from drawings made expressly by the authoress. Also, an historical novel, entitled "The Dead Bridal," illustrative of the most interesting period in the history of the Venitian republic, by Jonathan Freke Slingsby, of the Dublin University Magazine; and contributions from William and Mary Howitt, Percy B. St. John, FitzJames O'Brien, and other writers of distinction in America and Europe.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE FOR '53.—The sphere and the utility of the ECLECTIC MAGAZINE have become too well defined to require explanation. The great reviews and magazines of Great Britain and the Continent, through which the leading minds of the age are accustomed, almost exclusively, to express them. selves, are too numerous to be reprinted, as well as too costly to be imported by the general reader. They contain, likewise, much, with their desirable articles, that has but a temporary or local interest and which is worth to the American reader neither the price nor time required to peruse it. To select from the whole field of journalism all that is really valuable, both the graver dissertations and discus valuable, both the graver dissertations and discussions of the reviews, and the lighter and more versatile contents of the magazines, is the purpose of the ECLECTIC. The best parts of all are thus secured, without the cost or incumbrance of the local or feeble parts of any. The main portion of the ECLECTIC will continue to be composed of the great and eloquent articles of the reviews; while everything valuable or brilliant in all other controlled lesses particularly of Green Bestsin. periodical issues, particularly of Great Britain, will be carefully presented. CHANGE OF HOURS.—On and after Thursday, October 6th, and aft information collected by them even during the recess of Congress is of so much importance to the interests of every section of the country—that I shall continue the publication of the daily paper permanently, with a view to become the vehicle of the earliest and most correct intelligence.

It is part of my plan to reduce the price of the daily paper to half that of similar daily papers; and thus I hope to extend its circulation so as to invite advertisements. I will publish advertisements of the Government. To subscribers in the cities I hope to submit such terms as will induce them to hope to submit such terms as will induce them to advertise their business in every village through-out the Union, where the Globe is sent daily under the franks of members of Congress, all of whom take it, and some of them a large number of copies. The installation of a new Administration and a new Congress nortends such charge in the congress.

The installation of a new Administration and a new Congress portends much change in the course of public affairs as the result of the acts session. Many vast interests which were brought up in the last Congress were laid over by the Democratic Executive. The new modeling of the tariff; the new land system; the question of giving homesteads, and making every man a freeholder who may choose to become one; the approximation of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans by a national railroad across the territory of the Union; reform in the Army, Navy, and civil offices—all these great questions, with a thousand minor ones, deeply affecting multitudes of men and every State in the Union, will, now being matured by public opinion, come up for the Government's decision. These new issues, cooperating with old ones, coming up to be disposed of by seven actors on the seconds. disposed of by sew actors on the scenes at Washington, will be apt to modify greatly, if not alter essentially the party organizations of the country.

To these elements of interest another is likely to be introduced by the interposition of the agita-tions of Europe. After nearly forty years of peace in Europe there is an evident restlessness that now seems fraught with tendencies threatening war; and if war comes, in all likelihood there will follow such universal change that the United States can scarcely hope to escape its vortex. Indeed from late events it is apparent that our government is already drawn into European difficulties. These circumstances are calculated to draw the public mind towards the next Congress with much exception.

The Daily Globs will be printed on fine paper.

The Daily Globs will be printed on fine paper.

The Dally Globe will be printed on fine paper, double royal size, with small type, (brevier and nonpareil,) at five dollars a year.

The Congressional Globe will also be printed on a double royal sheet, in book form, royal quarto size, each number containing sixteen pages. The Congressional Globe proper will be made up of the proceedings of Congress and the running debates as given by the Reporters. The speeches which members may choose to write out themselves will, together with the messages of the President of the United States, the reports of the Executive Departments, and the laws passed by Congress, be added in an Appendix. Formerly I received subscriptions for the Congressional Globe and Appendix separately. But this has not been found satisfactory, inasmuch as it gave an incomplete view of the transactions in Congress; and therefore I have concluded not to sell them apart, considering that neighbors can have the advantage of both by clubbing, in case individuals shall find it too onerous to be at the charge of both. To facilitate the circulation of the Congressional Globe, and cheapen it to subscribers, Congress passed last year a joint resolution making it free of postage. I annex it, as the law may not be accessible to postmasters generally:

Joint Resolution providing for the distribution of the Laws

Joint Resolution providing for the distribution of the Law of Congress and the Debates thereon. With a view to the cheap circulation of the laws of Con gress and the debates contributing to the true interprets tion thereof, and to make free the communication between tion thereof, and to make free the communication betwee the representative and constituent hodies:

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representation of the United States of America in Congress, assembled, The from and after the present session of Congress, the Correstional Globe and Appendix, which contains the lay and the debates thereon, shall pass free through the mission long as the same shall be published by order of Corress: Provided, That nothing herein shall be constructed authorize the circulation of the Daily Globe free postage.

As I sell the Daily Glober at helf the passing the construction of the Daily Globe free postage.

As I sell the DAILY GLOBE at half the price of similar publications, so the Congressional GLOBE and APPENDIX is sold for half the cost of so much composition, press-work, and paper. This I can afford to do, inasmuch as the subscription of Congress almost covers the cost of composition, and this enables me to sell for little more than the cost of composition. gress almost covers the cost of composition, and this enables me to sell for little more than the cost of press-work and paper. It requires the sale of about 9,000 copies to reimburse expenses. If 500 only were sold, the cost of each copy would be about $104! The debates in the English Parliament cost about eleven times as much as I charge subscribers for the debates in Congress, equal in quantity, and as well reported and printed.

The next session of Congress will be a long one; and it is believed the Congressional Globe for it will reach 4.000 royal quarto pages, as the last long session made 3,842; and the long one before that made 3,901 royal quarto pages—four large volumes each session. If subscribers will be careful to file all the numbers received by them, I will supply any that may miscarry in the mails. This work increases in value as it grows old. The first seventeen volumes will now command three times, and some of the subscription price.

The subscription price for the Congressional Globe (including the Appendix and the laws) is six dollars.

Complete indexes will be made out and for Six dollars.

Complete indexes will be made out and forwarded to subscribers soon after the session is ended Subscribers for the Duly should have their money here by the 5th, and for the Congressional Globe by the 15th of December. The money must accompany an order for either the Duly or the Congressional Globe. Bank notes current where a subscriber resides will be received at par.
